Artist, art critic, educator, social thinker and true polymath, John Ruskin devoted his life to the pursuit of knowledge. Celebrating the bicentenary of his birth (8th February 1819), John Ruskin: The Power of Seeing will explore how his influence, throughout the arts, education, the economy and the environment, is still being felt today.

Produced by Two Temple Place, Museums Sheffield and the Guild of St George, John Ruskin: The Power of Seeing will bring together over 190 paintings, drawings, plaster casts, manuscripts and minerals to illustrate how Ruskin's attitude to beauty shaped his radical views on culture and society.

The exhibition is supported by a varied programme of events for all ages including walks, talks, workshops and our ever popular Wednesday Lates! Look out especially for our FREE children's trail and weekly Art Cart events.
